Deputy Vice President
Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA)
950 F Street NW
Washington, DC 20004

Ms. Bryant is Deputy Vice President, Research at PhRMA, the national association representing the country's leading pharmaceutical research and biotechnology companies. At PhRMA, she leads efforts in public policy research, overseeing a broad portfolio of economic and policy research aimed at better understanding the role of pharmaceuticals in today's health care system. Areas of focus in her work include the impact of rising rates of chronic disease on US health care costs, medication adherence, pharmaceutical costs and pricing, and the Medicare prescription drug program. Prior to joining PhRMA, Ms. Bryant was a Vice President at The Lewin Group, a national health care consulting firm. Previously, she held management positions at Blue Cross Blue Shield Association, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida, New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, and the State of New York. Ms. Bryant is a graduate of Harvard College and received her MBA from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.
